Preface

The pre-kharif Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA-2025) marks a defining moment in India's agricultural journey, translating the national vision of "Viksit Bharat" into tangible action at the grassroots. Conceived as a farmer-centric, technology-led movement, VKSA has brought together State Departments, ICAR Institutes, SAUs, CU, KVKs, Regional Stations, NABARD/ IFFCO, FPOs/ FPCs and civil society into a single collaborative platform. It has not only showcased innovations but has also laid the foundation for a future-ready, climate-resilient and inclusive agricultural ecosystem.

VKSA's strength lies in its participatory and problem-solving orientation. From the tribal heartlands of Odisha's KBK region to the fertile floodplains as well as Vibrant Villages of West Bengal and the unique island ecosystems of Andaman & Nicobar, the campaign identified region-specific challenges—water scarcity, soil degradation, flood vulnerability, crop diversification gaps, post-harvest losses—and offered contextual solutions through adaptive technologies, policy inputs and farmer innovations.

A defining feature of VKSA in Zone-V has been the National Inauguration at Puri, coupled with the integration of FPOs and FPCs as active partners in knowledge dissemination, market linkages and entrepreneurship promotion. Farmers' grassroots innovations—ranging from low-cost implements to climate-resilient crop varieties—have been recognized, validated and showcased widely, underscoring the ingenuity and resilience of rural communities in tackling emerging agricultural challenges.

The campaign also underlined the importance of synergy across programs like NICRA-TDC, CFLDs, skill development initiatives and DAPSC/ DAPST interventions, ensuring that climate-smart practices, bio-inputs, indigenous knowledge and digital tools are mainstreamed in farming systems. In doing so, VKSA has created a blueprint for the next phase of agricultural transformation, where productivity gains go hand-in-hand with sustainability, resilience and equity.

This volume documents the experiences, learning and perspectives of VKSA-2025. It captures not only the policy and scientific dimensions but also the voices of farmers, extension professionals and agri-entrepreneurs who are the true custodians of this movement.

We gratefully acknowledge the guidance of ICAR leadership, the commitment of State Departments, the partnership of CU/ SAUs, ICAR Institutes, Regional Stations, KVKs, the proactive role of NABARD/ IFFCO/ FPOs/ FPCs and above all, the trust and participation of farmers who made VKSA-2025 a collective success. The journey of VKSA reaffirms a simple truth: when science meets farmer wisdom and institutions converge around a shared vision, agriculture becomes not just a means of livelihood but a pathway to national development.

कार्यकारी सारांश

जोन- V में विकसित कृषि संकल्प अभियान (VKSA): आकांक्षाएँ बोना, आशा की फसल काटना

एक राष्ट्रीय आंदोलन का पवित्र शुभारंभ

पुरी में भगवान जगन्नाथ के दिव्य आशीर्वाद से, विकसित कृषि संकल्प अभियान (VKSA) ने 29 मई 2025 को ज़ोन-V में अपनी परिवर्तनकारी यात्रा शुरू की। इस अभियान का शुभारंभ ओडिशा के पुरी स्थित कृषि विज्ञान केंद्र, सखीगोपाल से औपचारिक रूप से किया गया, जो परंपरा, विज्ञान और ग्रामीण आकांक्षाओं के पावन संगम का प्रतीक है। भारत के माननीय प्रधानमंत्री द्वारा ओयूएटी, भुवनेश्वर में वर्चुअल मेगा-लॉन्च के साथ इस अभियान की गति और भी बढ़ गई, जहाँ उन्होंने वैज्ञानिक और कृषक समुदाय से एक सुदृढ़ और समृद्ध कृषि भविष्य के निर्माण का आह्वान किया।

जलीय कृषि में एक छलांग: “सीफा अर्गु वैक्स I” का शुभारंभ

भारत के जलीय कृषि क्षेत्र के लिए एक महत्वपूर्ण उपलब्धि के रूप में, VKSA ने एक नवीन मछली वैक्सीन - “सीफा अर्गु वैक्स I” का भी शुभारंभ किया। आईसीएआर-सीफा द्वारा विकसित, यह वैक्सीन मीठे पानी की मछलियों को प्रभावित करने वाले एक प्रमुख परजीवी रोग, अर्गुलोसिस को लक्षित करती है। इस नवाचार से, विशेष रूप से ज़ोन-V के जलीय कृषि-प्रधान जिलों में, मछलियों के अस्तित्व और किसानों की आय में उल्लेखनीय वृद्धि होने की उम्मीद है। यह शुभारंभ किसान-नेतृत्व वाले, विज्ञान-संचालित जलीय कृषि विकास में एक नया अध्याय है।

विज्ञान से समाज का मिलना: नवाचार और उत्सव

VKSA ने भारत की कृषि विविधता और किसानों की प्रतिभा का जश्न मनाने के लिए एक मंच के रूप में कार्य किया। इसका एक उल्लेखनीय आकर्षण आईसीएआर-आईआईएचआर-सीएचईएस, भुवनेश्वर में आयोजित क्षेत्रीय आम विविधता प्रदर्शनी थी, जहाँ आम की 470 से अधिक किस्में और जर्मप्लाज्म प्रदर्शित किए गए, जिनमें ओडिशा की 180 से अधिक किस्में शामिल थीं। यह क्षेत्र की बागवानी संपदा का एक दृश्य और वैज्ञानिक प्रमाण था। 161 किसानों के नवाचारों का दस्तावेजीकरण भी उतना ही प्रभावशाली रहा, जिनमें से 10 वैज्ञानिक रूप से मजबूत पाए गए—जिससे संस्थागत मान्यता और व्यापक रूप से अपनाने का मार्ग प्रशस्त हुआ।

आजीविका बढ़ाने वाले

पश्चिम बंगाल में, केवीके हावड़ा ने पशु स्वास्थ्य शिविर के आयोजन में अग्रणी भूमिका निभाई, जिसमें महत्वपूर्ण पशु चिकित्सा देखभाल, कृमि मुक्ति और किसान प्रशिक्षण सत्र आयोजित किए गए - जिससे पशुधन स्वास्थ्य और किसान जागरूकता में उल्लेखनीय वृद्धि हुई।

जोन-V में VKSA की एक उल्लेखनीय उपलब्धि भारत सरकार के उद्योगी ग्राम कार्यक्रम के अंतर्गत पश्चिम बंगाल के 16 उद्योगी गाँवों को शामिल करना था। सीमावर्ती ये गाँव, जो अक्सर सुविधाओं से वंचित रहते थे, राष्ट्रीय विकास प्राथमिकताओं के केंद्र में लाए गए। इन गाँवों में शामिल हैं:

- कूचबिहार: उचलपुरखरी, खट्टीमारी, कालामाटी, साहेबगंज, पथरसन, बकशीगंज, सिंगिमारी पश्चिमपार, सिंगिमारी भेटागुड़ी
- उत्तर दिनाजपुर: डांगराडांगरी, रामगंज, कटगाँव
- जलपाईगुड़ी: कैरन टी गार्डन, प्रधानपारा
- कलिम्पोंग: टोडे तंगता खासमहल
- दार्जिलिंग: सौरिनीबस्ती
- दक्षिण दिनाजपुर: अर्जुनपुर

इन गाँवों में जलवायु-अनुकूल कृषि, इनपुट प्रबंधन और ग्रामीण उद्यमिता पर विशेष कार्यक्रम आयोजित किए गए, जिससे देश के सीमावर्ती क्षेत्रों में आशा और सशक्तिकरण का संचार हुआ।

ज्ञान और आवश्यकता के बीच सेतु निर्माण

VKSA अभियान ने प्राकृतिक खेती, जल-उपयोग दक्षता, कीट-रोग प्रबंधन और विविध कृषि मॉडलों पर भी ज़ोर दिया। किसानों को सरकारी योजनाओं, आधुनिक आदानों और जलवायु-अनुकूल प्रथाओं के बारे में जागरूक किया गया। गाँवों में, प्रदर्शनों, प्रशिक्षण सत्रों और संवादात्मक संवादों ने दो-तरफ़ा शिक्षा सुनिश्चित की—जहाँ किसानों ने अपनी चुनौतियाँ साझा कीं और वैज्ञानिकों ने समाधान सुझाए।

संकल्प से संस्कृति तक

जोन-V में विकसित कृषि संकल्प अभियान एक अभियान से कहीं बढ़कर एक आंदोलन बन गया है। इसने वैज्ञानिकों, किसानों, नवप्रवर्तकों और नीति निर्माताओं को एक साझा दृष्टिकोण: विकसित भारत@2047, के साथ एक साझा मंच पर ला खड़ा किया है। 18 लाख से ज़्यादा किसानों तक पहुँच, “सीफा अर्गु वैक्स I” जैसे अभूतपूर्व नवप्रवर्तन, जैव विविधता के उत्सव और हावड़ा में पशु स्वास्थ्य शिविर जैसी समावेशी पहलों के साथ, VKSA ने दिखाया है कि सार्थक परिवर्तन मिट्टी से शुरू होता है। जैसे-जैसे यह अभियान आगे बढ़ेगा, VKSA की भावना सामूहिक कार्रवाई को प्रेरित करती रहेगी—जहाँ हर गाँव ज्ञान का केंद्र होगा, हर किसान एक नवप्रवर्तक होगा, और हर फसल एक विकसित और लचीले कृषि भारत के और करीब पहुँचेगी।

Executive Summary

Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) in Zone-V: Sowing Aspirations, Harvesting Hope

A Sacred Launch of a National Movement

With the divine blessings of Lord Jagannath at Puri, the Viksit Bharat Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) began its transformative journey across Zone-V on 29th May 2025. The campaign was ceremoniously launched from KVK, Sakhigopal, Puri, Odisha, symbolizing a sacred confluence of tradition, science, and rural aspirations. The momentum was amplified with the virtual mega-launch by the Hon'ble Prime Minister of India at OUAT, Bhubaneswar, where he called upon the scientific and farming community to build a resilient and prosperous agricultural future.

A Leap in Aquaculture: Launch of "CIFA Argu VAX I"

In a breakthrough moment for India's aquaculture sector, VKSA also witnessed the launch of a novel fish vaccine- "CIFA Argu VAX I". Developed by ICAR-CIFA, this vaccine targets Argulosis, a major parasitic disease affecting freshwater fish. The innovation is expected to significantly boost fish survival and farmer income, especially in aquaculture-intensive districts of Zone-V. The launch marks a new chapter in farmer-led, science-driven aquaculture development.

Science Meets Society: Innovations and Celebrations

VKSA served as a platform to celebrate India's agricultural diversity and farmer ingenuity. A notable highlight was the Regional Mango Diversity Show organized at ICAR-IIHR-CHES, Bhubaneswar, where over 470 varieties and germplasm of mango, including more than 180 from Odisha, were displayed. It was a visual and scientific testimony to the region's horticultural wealth. Equally impactful was the documentation of 161 farmers' innovations, of which 10 were found to be scientifically robust—paving the way for institutional validation and wider adoption.

Livelihood Boosters

In West Bengal, KVK Howrah took the lead in organizing an Animal Health Camp, which delivered vital veterinary care, deworming, and farmer training sessions—significantly enhancing livestock health and farmer awareness.

Reaching the Borders: Vibrant Villages Take the Lead

A standout achievement of VKSA in Zone-V was the coverage of 16 Vibrant Villages in West Bengal under the Government of India's Vibrant Villages Programme. These borderland villages, often underserved, were brought to the center of national development priorities. The villages include:

- Cooch Behar: Uchal Pukhari, Khattimari, Kalamati, Sahebganj, Patharsan, Bakshiganj, Singimari Paschimpar, Singimari Bhetaguri
- Uttar Dinajpur: Dangra Dangri, Ramganj, Katgaon
- Jalpaiguri: Caron Tea Garden, Pradhanpara
- Kalimpong: Today Tangta Khasmahal
- Darjeeling: Saurinibasti
- Dakshin Dinajpur: Arjunpur

These villages witnessed special programmes on climate-resilient agriculture, input management, and rural entrepreneurship—bringing hope and empowerment to the nation's borderlands.

Bridging Knowledge and Need

The VKSA campaign also emphasized natural farming, water-use efficiency, pest-disease management, and diversified farming models. Farmers were made aware of government schemes, modern inputs, and climate-smart practices. Across the villages, demonstrations, training sessions, and interactive dialogues ensured two-way learning—where farmers shared their challenges, and scientists responded with solutions.

From Sankalp to Sankriti

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan in Zone-V has emerged as more than a campaign—it has become a movement. It brought together scientists, farmers, innovators, and policymakers on a common platform with one shared vision: Viksit Bharat@2047. With over 18 lakh farmers reached, groundbreaking innovations like CIFA Argu VAX I lunched, celebrations of biodiversity, and inclusive outreach initiatives like the Animal Health Camp in Howrah, VKSA has shown that meaningful transformation begins from the soil up. As the campaign moves forward, the spirit of VKSA will continue to inspire collective action—where every village is a hub of knowledge, every farmer an innovator, and every harvest a step closer to a developed and resilient agricultural India.

Chapter 1: Introduction

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA), a 15-day nation-wide campaign anchored in the vision of a self-reliant India, unfolded as a dynamic and transformative movement across all districts of Zone-V comprising Odisha, West Bengal and UT of Andaman and Nicobar Islands. Designed to strengthen the agrarian economy through awareness, outreach, and convergence, the campaign galvanized rural communities into collective action, bridging policy with people, and information with implementation. Across Zove-V, VKSA emerged as a symbol of grassroots mobilization and a strategic leap towards inclusive and climate-smart agriculture.

Chapter 2: State wise summary of Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA)

2.1 National Inauguration of Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) – 29 May 2025, Odisha

Sankalp Se Siddhi Tak: A New Era of Farmer-First Development

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) was formally inaugurated on 29 May 2025 in Odisha with a dynamic series of events that exemplified the convergence of policy, science, and farmer participation. Spearheaded by the Government of India in collaboration with the Government of Odisha, the campaign set the stage for ushering in a new chapter of agricultural transformation across the country, rooted in technology transfer, grassroots engagement, and resilient food systems.

The day commenced with a Sankalp Padayatra at Sakhigopal, Puri, symbolising the spirit of collective resolve for agricultural prosperity. The Padayatra drew participation from top leadership, including Shri Shivraj Singh Chouhan, Hon'ble Union Minister of Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare and Rural Development; Shri Mohan Charan Majhi, Hon'ble Chief Minister, Odisha, Shri Kanak Vardhan Singh Deo, Deputy Chief Minister and Minister of Agriculture, Odisha; Shri Babu Singh, MLA, Ekamra, and Shri Ashrit Pattanayak, MLA, Pipili, Dr. M. L. Jat, Secretary, DARE & DG, ICAR; Dr. A. Padhee, Principal Secretary, Agriculture, Odisha; and Dr. Rajbir Singh, DDG (Extension), ICAR and many other dignitaries and farmers. The Sankalp Padayatra symbolised the renewed national commitment toward building a self-reliant and productive agriculture sector rooted in traditional wisdom and guided by modern science. Hon'ble Union Minister

Shivraj Singh Chouhan Ji called upon people to join the 'Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan' to create awareness among farmers about modern technologies through scientific outreach and sustainable practices for higher productivity."

Following the Sankalp Padayatra, two high-impact farmers' interaction sessions were held at ICAR-KVK, Puri and ICAR-KVK, Khordha. These interactions emphasized dialogue between scientists and farmers on climate-resilient agriculture, adoption of modern crop technologies, and institutional support for smallholders. Special attention was given to feedback from tribal and marginalised communities, reinforcing the inclusive design of the campaign.

The focus then shifted to Bhubaneswar, where a Mango Diversity Show cum Farmers' Interaction Programme celebrated the agro-biodiversity of Odisha. Farmers presented local mango varieties and shared indigenous knowledge on pest management, varietal traits, and value-added products. This event also stimulated discussions on entrepreneurial opportunities in horticulture, especially for youth and women. Hon'ble Union Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan Ji himself interacted with farmers to know their problems related to agriculture.

A historic milestone of the inauguration was the launch of "CIFA Argu VAX I", a novel fish vaccine developed by ICAR-CIFA to combat Argulus (fish lice), a major threat to aquaculture productivity in India. The vaccine is poised to dramatically reduce mortality rates and chemical dependency in aquaculture while boosting profitability for small and marginal fish farmers in eastern India. "CIFA Argu VAX I promises to enhance fish survivability, reduce losses in aquaculture, and significantly improve farmer income—especially in low-resource settings," said Shri Shivraj Singh Chouhan Ji.

The culminating event of the day took place at Odisha University of Agriculture and Technology (OUAT), Bhubaneswar, where the national-level formal inauguration of VKSA was conducted. Thousands of farmers, students, extension workers, researchers and policy makers gathered in solidarity to witness this historic moment of transformation. "This movement is not just about agricultural reform—it's about national rejuvenation rooted in rural prosperity," said Shri Shivraj Singh Chouhan Ji, calling upon farmers to become active partners in shaping a Viksit Bharat."

The event served as a hub of convergence for ICAR institutes, KVKs, agri-startups, self-help groups, and farmer producer organizations (FPOs). It presented a live showcase of innovations in precision farming, integrated pest management, natural farming, and digital extension tools that reflect the diversity and dynamism of India's agri-science ecosystem.

The VKSA national launch in Odisha on 29 May 2025 was a ground breaking success, not only as a ceremonial function but as a mobilizing force for participatory development. From symbolic foot marches to scientific breakthroughs, from grassroots conversations to policy articulation—every element underscored India's intent to make farmers the nucleus of its agricultural future. The launch of CIFA Argu VAX I further positioned the campaign as a science-led, action-ready initiative poised to deliver real benefits to rural communities. With such strategic alignment of vision, technology, and ground-level participation, inauguration of VKSA Odisha has laid the blueprint for Viksit Krishi, and by extension, a Viksit Bharat.

Widespread Reach across the State

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) unfolded across the breadth of Odisha, spanning all 30 districts through the coordinated efforts of 92 dedicated teams. In a short period, the campaign succeeded in reaching an impressive 11,688 villages by organizing

1,962 targeted programmes. This extensive geographic coverage ensured that the campaign penetrated deep into remote tribal belts, climate-vulnerable agro-ecologies, and low-resource farming systems. By reaching out directly to households across such diverse landscapes, VKSA has emerged as one of the most inclusive agricultural outreach initiatives ever undertaken in the state's history. Its strength lay in taking science to the doorstep of the farmer, irrespective of terrain, resource endowment, or institutional access. Among the most notable aspects of this mobilisation was the extraordinary female participation, accounting for more than 42% of the total participants. This reflects the rising presence and agency of women in agriculture in Odisha, from SHG leaders to climate-resilient farm practitioners. Their enthusiastic participation is a testimony to the changing dynamics of gender and rural development in the state.

Massive Farmer Participation

What truly defined the VKSA campaign in Odisha was the scale of grassroots participation it mobilized. A remarkable total of 6,96,895 male farmers and 5,07,506 female farmers actively took part in the various programs and interactions under the campaign. This widespread involvement demonstrated a rising wave of farmer enthusiasm and ownership, transforming the campaign into a people's movement for agricultural transformation. The significant participation of women farmers, in particular, sent out a strong message about the shifting dynamics of rural development—one that now actively recognizes and embraces gender-inclusive growth in agriculture and allied sectors.

Focused Interventions in Aspirational Districts

A key strategic thrust of VKSA in Odisha was its deep focus on all 10 identified Aspirational Districts—areas that have historically faced multiple development bottlenecks in agriculture and rural livelihoods. VKSA gave special emphasis to Odisha's 10 Aspirational Districts—Balangir, Dhenkanal, Gajapati, Kandhamal, Kalahandi, Koraput, Malkangiri, Nabarangpur, Nuapada, and Rayagada. These districts, identified by NITI Aayog for targeted development, were covered intensively through structured extension activities. Here, the campaign undertook targeted interventions designed to plug existing gaps in knowledge, infrastructure, and service delivery. The use of technology backstopping, customized capacity-building sessions, and convergence with centrally and state-

sponsored schemes ensured that the outreach in these districts was not just wide, but meaningful. These focused efforts created a platform for long-term transformation, making these districts future-ready through participatory, knowledge-based rural development. The campaign helped bring government programmes and agri-institutional services closer to those who need them most, fostering trust and bridging long-standing delivery gaps.

Empowering Tribal Communities Through TSP Interventions

Another defining feature of VKSA in Odisha was its robust outreach in Scheduled Tribe (TSP) districts. These included Gajapati, Kandhamal, Mayurbhanj, Malkangiri, Nabarangpur, Rayagada, and Sundargarh, where tribal populations form a significant proportion of the agrarian community. A total of 2977 villages were covered under VKSA in these tribal districts, and 322146 tribal farmers directly engaged in the programmes. These included thematic discussions on indigenous farming practices, millet promotion, sustainable land use, and convergence with tribal development schemes. VKSA served as a catalyst in reenergising tribal agriculture with inputs, awareness, and institutional support, marking a shift from isolation to integration for these communities.

Key Outcomes and Strategic Gains

VKSA in Odisha was not just about impressive numbers—it was about strategic, inclusive, and transformative outreach. The campaign witnessed effective collaboration between Krishi Vigyan Kendras (KVKs), ICAR-Institutes/Regional Stations Line Departments, Self-Help Groups (SHGs), Panchayati Raj Institutions, and local innovators. Together, they created a vibrant ecosystem of awareness, participation, and convergence across all agro-climatic zones of the state.

The campaign's ability to engage tribal and aspirational districts effectively is a model for targeted development and equitable access to agricultural knowledge and government schemes. It also highlighted the central role of women and youth in the agricultural transformation journey that Odisha is undertaking.

Conclusion

VKSA in Odisha has sown the seeds of a new agrarian consciousness—one rooted in inclusivity, innovation, and institutional synergy. It has demonstrated that when communities, knowledge systems, and governance mechanisms converge with purpose, the results can be transformative.

2.2 Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) at West Bengal

The VKSA programme— a nationwide ICAR & Ministry of Agriculture campaign running from May 29 to June 12, 2025, aiming to empower farmers across all 700 districts of India by transferring scientific agriculture and fisheries practices directly to their fields. In Inauguration of VKSA Programme at Sahebdaanga, Illambazar, Birbhum in the presence of Chief Guest Dr. Probir Kumar Ghosh, Vice Chancellor, Visva-Bharati on 29.05.2025. The programme was implemented throughout all 22 districts of West Bengal with the concerted efforts of 91 committed teams. In a short span of 15 days, the campaign organized 1,146 targeted programs and reached an amazing 5023 villages. This broad geographic reach made sure the campaign reached far into low-resource farming systems, climate-vulnerable agro-ecologies, and isolated tribal regions. Through direct outreach to homes in such a wide range of landscapes,

VKSA has become one of the most inclusive agricultural outreach programs in the history of the state. The remarkable participation in this mobilization—more than 612539 participants of whom 35.5% was farm women—was one of its most noteworthy features. In West Bengal, ICAR Institutes such as CRIJAF, CIFRI, NIFET, IARI, CPCRI, CIBA, CIFE, IVRI, NBSS& LUP, CSSRI, CMFRI, and KVKs have teams that work in districts including Howrah, Hooghly, Murshidabad, Nadia, and both North and South 24 Parganas, among others. Along with scientists from KVK, around 148 ICAR-Scientists took part in these program. From SHG leaders to climate-resilient farm practitioners; this illustrates the growing presence and agency of women in West Bengal agricultural sector. Their eager involvement is evidence of the state's shifting gender relations and rural development.

Massive Farmer Participation

In West Bengal alone, the campaign made a significant impact by directly reaching out to approximately 6 lakh farmers across 22 districts. Through field demonstrations, interactive sessions, expert guidance, and dissemination of scientific farming techniques, VKSA aimed to improve agricultural productivity, promote sustainable practices, and enhance farmers' resilience in the face of changing climatic and economic conditions. This large-scale outreach initiative stands as a testament to the government's commitment to transforming Indian agriculture from the grassroots level. Prominent events took place around June 7, 2025, particularly in the Sunderbans region (Sagar Island), where scientists engaged ~3,300 farmers and fishers—including 2,163 women—across 23 villages.

Focus Areas & Activities

- Scientific farming: Promoting climateresilient agricultural and aquaculture techniques—covering seed treatment, soil health, fertilizer use, pest/disease control, and livestock/fishery protocols.
- Fisheries: Intensive focus in coastal zones like Sagar Island, with sessions on disease management, water quality, adaptive aquaculture, integrated resource planning, and new vaccines like CIFA Argu VAXI
- Technology demonstrations: KVKs (e.g., Burdwan, Jhargram) conducted drone demos, soil health camps, livestock/fish training, and on-farm trials throughout June.
- The campaign's ultimate aim is to connect research with the grassroots by empowering farmers through lecture demonstrations, pamphlets, advisories, scheme guidance, and knowledge exchange

- Vibrant Villages: Vibrant Villages Programme (VVP) is an initiative launched by the Government of India to ensure the development and welfare of remote and border villages, similar rural development efforts in remote areas of the state—especially in sensitive border regions like Darjeeling, Kalimpong, Alipurduar, Dakshin Dinajpur, Uttar Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri and Cooch Behar—can be aligned with VKSA goals. During this program, 17 no. of visit were made with 5549 farmers participated, covering over 16 vibrant villages.

Conclusion

In West Bengal, VKSA focused on strategic, inclusive, and transformative outreach rather than just stunning numbers. Krishi Vigyan Kendras (KVKs), ICAR-Institutes/Regional Stations Line Departments, Self-Help Groups (SHGs), Panchayati Raj Institutions, and local innovators worked together effectively during the campaign. It is imperative that the momentum created by VKSA be maintained as West Bengal continues on its journey towards a Viksit Bharat. The campaign has established a strong basis for ongoing participation, responsive policy, and rural prosperity. It is now essential to build on these successes with appropriate documentation, governmental backing, and ongoing grassroots collaborations to make sure that the opinions expressed during VKSA continue to influence agriculture in West Bengal in all of the state's agroclimatic zones.

2.3 Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) at A & N Islands

The Department of Agriculture, Andaman and Nicobar Administration organized the Pre-Kharif Campaign titled 'Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan' across all Zones from 29th May to 12th June, 2025 in coordination with Krishi Vigyan Kendras, District Administration, Department of Animal Husbandry & Veterinary Services, Department of Fisheries and Department of Rural Development, Panchayati Raj Institutions and Urban Local Bodies.

At South Andaman Zone, the Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan was inaugurated at the Community Hall of Chouldari Gram Panchayat. The event was graced by the chief guest, Hon'ble Member of Parliament, Shri Bishnu Pada Ray, who formally inaugurated the programme with the traditional lighting of the lamp, symbolizing the beginning of a new chapter in agricultural development and farmer empowerment in the region.

Although the Ministry set a goal of reaching 3000 farmers, it has actually reached 34591 farmers, who are spread over 3 districts of Union Territory. The VKSA conducted across all Gram Panchayats of Andaman and Nicobar Islands with the aim to reach each and every farmer and spreading awareness among farmers about modern agricultural practices of major Kharif crops, dissemination of information regarding various Government Schemes and Policies beneficial for farmers, use of Soil Health Cards for proper decision-making by farmers for balanced use of fertilizers, including micro-nutrients, awareness about judicious and appropriate use of chemical fertilizers.

Outreach & Awareness Activities

- In all 3 districts, 254 programmes were organised which event witnessed active participation of officials from the Departments of Agriculture, Animal Husbandry & Veterinary Services, Fisheries, representatives from Panchayati Raj Institutions, scientists from KVK, and a large number of local farmers from 488 villages. The events brought together farmers, fishermen, women from SHGs, and youth. Dedicated efforts by KVKs and departmental officers ensured the campaign reached even the distant Nancowry group of Islands, often requiring travel by boat.

- Each flagged-off Krishi Rath will travel through rural areas, conducting outreach activities like awareness sessions for farmers. To make the campaign more effective pamphlets and leaflets explaining various schemes will be distributed. Boats will be used to reach farmers living in remote Island areas. Publicity Vans (Raths) equipped with banners and audio announcements will travel through villages for wide publicity of the Abhiyan in order to reach every corner & every farmer. The focus is to empower them with updated knowledge about crop diversification, Government schemes, soil health, irrigation management, and sustainable farming methods.
- Comprehensive outreach methods included door-to-door visits, interactive village "chaupal" meetings, sports events, nukkad natak (street plays), evening sessions, and social media promotion.

Key Focus Areas & Deliverables

- Modern practices & schemes: Guidance on major Kharif crops, balanced fertilizer use via Soil Health Cards, and awareness of Government schemes like PM-KISAN and PMFBY

- Input distribution: Issued Soil Health Cards, fishery licenses, ID certificates, chicks, animal feed, mineral supplements, seeds, and spices (clove, cinnamon, black pepper, nutmeg)
- Ecosustainability drives: Sapling plantations under “Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam” and coexistence programs like beach clean-up on World Ocean Day.

Conclusion

The VKSA campaign in the Andaman & Nicobar Islands was a comprehensive, high-impact outreach initiative with:

- Territorial saturation: Reached remote island villages across all districts.
- Robust farmer engagement: Over 3,400 farmers directly involved.
- Holistic delivery: From technology demos and scheme awareness to input distribution and eco-friendly actions.
- Strong institutional coordination: Ensured active monitoring, high-level involvement, and accountability.

Chapter 3: Team Composition

The ICAR led the VKSA through active involvement of scientists from ICAR Institutes, SAUs and KVKs. In each district, at least 3 dedicated teams were formed to carry out the VKSA activities across 700+ districts in the country. A total of 2170 multi-disciplinary and multi-institutional teams, comprising of Subject Matter Specialists (SMS) from KVKs, Scientists from ICAR Institutes, Officials from the State Department of Agriculture, Horticulture, Animal Husbandry, Soil Conservation etc. Progressive Farmers and Farmer Resource Persons, including representatives from Farmer Producer Organizations (FPOs), Farmer Interest Groups (FIGs), Self Help Groups (SHGs), and Agri-entrepreneurs etc., were included in the constituted group. The details of state-wise teams under ICAR-ATARI Kolkata have been shown in the following tables.

State-wise Team for VKSA-2025

Zonal Control Room at ICAR-ATARI Kolkata for VKSA 2025

To ensure seamless coordination and real-time monitoring of the 15-day Pre-Kharif Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) programme, a dedicated Control Room was established at ICAR-ATARI, Kolkata. This hub played a pivotal role in facilitating the effective transfer of advanced agricultural technologies from ICAR/KVK scientists to farming communities across the Zone. Operating daily from 7:00 AM to 11:00 PM, the Control Room functioned under the direct supervision of Dr. Pradip Dey, Director; Dr. K. S. Das, Nodal Officer; and Dr. S. K. Mondal, Co-Nodal Officer. They were ably supported by Dr. A. Halder, Principal Scientist, along with dedicated Senior Research Fellows (SRFs) and Young Professionals (YPs).

Serving as the central command centre, the Zonal Control Room ensured:

- Real-time coordination with KVKs, ICAR institutes, and field teams across multiple states and districts,
- Timely data acquisition and uploading on the KISAN Sarathi portal,
- Comprehensive documentation, including daily updates, geo-tagged photos, media coverages, and press notes via dedicated WhatsApp groups,
- Efficient facilitation of VIP visits across villages, KVKs, and research institutions.

The Control Room's systematic follow-up, proactive communication, and meticulous compilation of field-level information culminated in a comprehensive and timely report submitted to ICAR HQ, New Delhi. This robust coordination mechanism significantly contributed to the grand success of the VKSA programme in the Zone, showcasing ICAR-ATARI Kolkata's commitment to excellence in outreach, documentation, and delivery. The personnel composition of the Zonal Control Room is as follows:

S. No.	Name	Designation
1	Dr. Pradip Dey	Director & ICAR Nodal Officer of UT of Andaman & Nicobar Islands

Chapter 5: Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) in Tribal Sub-Plan (TSP) Districts

Introduction

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA), a nationwide campaign, aims to empower all sections of farmers through awareness, technology dissemination, and convergence of schemes. In Zone-V, the campaign placed special focus on Tribal Sub-Plan (TSP) districts, where agriculture is a critical livelihood source and tribal communities rely heavily on natural resources and traditional practices. The campaign addressed the unique needs of tribal farming systems by integrating climate resilience, sustainable practices, and knowledge-based interventions.

Geographical and Institutional Coverage

VKSA was conducted across 17 identified TSP districts in Zone-V, covering:

- Odisha: Deogarh, Gajapati, Jharsuguda, Kalahandi, Kandhamal, Keonjhar, Koraput, Malkangiri, Mayurbhanj, Nabarangpur, Nuapada, Rayagada, Sambalpur, Sundargarh
- West Bengal: Alipurduar, Darjeeling
- Andaman & Nicobar Islands: Nicobar

These districts are home to large tribal populations residing in forested uplands, hilly terrains, and coastal areas. A total of 53 dedicated teams conducted 1,047 structured field visits, reaching 5,276 villages. The campaign's implementation in these ecologically sensitive and infrastructurally constrained regions reflects the institutional commitment to inclusive development and last-mile service delivery.

Farmer Participation and Outreach in the TSP districts

VKSA activities in the TSP districts witnessed vibrant participation from the tribal farming communities. This included 3,29,946 male and 2,67,750 female farmers, with women constituting nearly 45% of the total participation—demonstrating the inclusive and gender-responsive approach of the campaign. The high proportion of women participants, particularly in tribal belts, underlined the growing role of women in agriculture and allied sectors. Also the high level of community engagement across tribal belts reinforced the need for continuous farmer-centric knowledge interventions. This wide-scale outreach provided an opportunity to engage farmers in remote and underserved areas with knowledge systems, technology demonstrations, and government support schemes tailored to their socio-economic context.

VKSA in TSP districts focused on agroecological and livelihood-based themes relevant to tribal communities. The campaign introduced climate-resilient crop varieties, promoted natural farming, and encouraged soil and water conservation practices suited to upland conditions. Emphasis was laid on integrated farming systems that combine field crops with livestock, poultry, piggery, and aquaculture—diversified models that align well with tribal livelihoods.

The campaign also addressed the need for on-farm demonstrations, pest-disease advisory services, and awareness on government schemes for seed distribution, input support, credit, and crop insurance. Additionally, training on value addition of local produce, use of indigenous livestock, and low-cost mechanization was provided. The teams captured valuable feedback from farmers, particularly around barriers to technology adoption, access to markets, and institutional services.

Outcomes and Significance in the TSP districts

VKSA created significant impact by linking tribal farmers with research and extension systems and promoting inclusive development. The campaign helped in:

- Identifying the critical need for location-specific seeds, improved planting materials, and soil health management
- Promoting livelihood diversification through backyard poultry, goatery, small-scale fishery, and NTFP-based value chains
- Highlighting access constraints to credit, schemes, infrastructure, and institutional handholding
- Reinstating confidence among tribal communities in institutional support systems, especially Krishi Vigyan Kendras and local line departments

VKSA reinforced the importance of culturally appropriate, participatory approaches for driving agricultural transformation in tribal areas.

The successful execution of VKSA in 17 TSP districts of Zone-V—spanning Odisha, West Bengal, and the Andaman & Nicobar Islands—underscores the importance of tribal-centric agricultural outreach. With over 5,000 villages covered and close to 6 lakh farmers engaged, the campaign delivered meaningful impact by introducing sustainable practices, improving access to schemes, and strengthening the research-extension-farmer interface. The momentum generated through VKSA should be sustained through convergent efforts, capacity-building programs, and tribal-specific policy support to ensure resilient and inclusive agricultural growth in these regions.

Chapter 6: Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) in Aspirational Districts

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA) is a flagship initiative launched by the Ministry of Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare, Government of India, to accelerate agricultural transformation at the grassroots level. With a focus on inclusivity, the campaign targets regions requiring developmental thrust, particularly Aspirational Districts identified by NITI Aayog. In Zone-V, comprising parts of Eastern India, the VKSA campaign was intensively rolled out across 10 Aspirational Districts with the active participation of ICAR institutions, Krishi Vigyan Kendras (KVKs), and state departments.

Geographical and Institutional Coverage in Aspirational Districts

The campaign strategically covered 10 Aspirational Districts within Zone-V, mobilizing a coordinated response across institutions. A total of 32 field teams, comprising scientists, extension personnel, and officials from line departments, undertook extensive outreach. Through 640 planned field visits, the teams reached out to 3,435 villages, encompassing diverse agro-ecological zones—ranging from tribal uplands and floodplains to coastal belts and resource-constrained regions. The logistical reach of the campaign demonstrated strong coordination and commitment to ensuring last-mile delivery of knowledge and support.

Farmer Participation and Outreach in Aspirational Districts

VKSA in these districts saw enthusiastic participation from the farming community, reflecting its grassroots relevance. A total of 3,10,896 farmers were directly engaged through a range of awareness programmes, demonstrations, and interactive sessions. Among them, 1,89,895 were male farmers and 1,21,001 were female farmers, highlighting the inclusivity and gender-sensitive outreach of the campaign. The strong representation of women farmers underscores the critical role of women in sustaining agricultural and allied livelihoods in the region.

The VKSA activities in Aspirational Districts emphasized themes aligned with local priorities and national agricultural goals. Key areas of focus included promotion of climate-resilient and location-specific crop varieties, enhancing awareness on natural farming practices, strengthening soil health through scientific nutrient management, and providing timely pest and disease advisories. The campaign also introduced farmers to alternative income-generating options such as backyard poultry, goatery, mushroom cultivation, and aquaculture. Access to government schemes, particularly those related to seed distribution, input support, credit, and crop insurance, was also widely promoted. In many locations, farmers actively shared their local innovations and constraints, offering valuable insights for future planning.

Outcomes and Significance in Aspirational Districts

The campaign yielded significant outcomes in terms of technology dissemination, need identification, and farmer empowerment. One of the major takeaways was the evident gap in access to quality seeds, advisory services, and integrated farming models. Farmers expressed a growing interest in diversified and sustainable livelihood options but cited challenges in accessing credit, inputs, and markets. The campaign also contributed to strengthening institutional presence and trust at the village level, with several teams reporting a renewed willingness among farmers to engage with KVKs and extension systems. The feedback collected during the interactions is now being synthesized to inform region-specific interventions and research priorities.

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan in the 17 Aspirational Districts of Zone-V has not only deepened outreach and engagement but also catalyzed a farmer-driven dialogue on agricultural transformation. With more than half a million farmers reached and over 5,000 villages covered, the campaign laid a strong foundation for participatory development and climate-resilient farming systems. Going forward, the momentum created by VKSA must be sustained through targeted follow-up actions, convergence with ongoing schemes, and continuous institutional engagement to truly empower the underserved farming communities of Aspirational Districts.

Chapter 7: Vibrant Villages Covered under VKSA (West Bengal)

Background

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan (VKSA), launched as a national movement to strengthen the last-mile delivery of agricultural technologies and services, gave special focus to remote and border-adjacent villages under the Vibrant Villages Programme. In West Bengal, VKSA recognized the strategic importance of these regions and prioritized outreach and farmer engagement to ensure inclusive and participatory agricultural development.

Coverage and Participation

A total of 16 Vibrant Villages across six districts of West Bengal were covered under VKSA. These include seven villages from Cooch Behar, three from Uttar Dinajpur, two from Jalpaiguri, and one each from Dakshin Dinajpur, Kalimpong, and Darjeeling. A total of 16 Vibrant Villages from six districts of West Bengal were covered under VKSA. These areas, often constrained by limited connectivity and institutional access, witnessed encouraging levels of community engagement. The campaign in these villages collectively reached 5,549 farmers, with active participation of women, youth, and marginalized farming communities, reflecting the spirit of equitable agricultural empowerment. The participation of women farmers accounted for more than 37% of the total outreach, reflecting the increasing involvement of women in agriculture and allied sectors even in remote areas.

List of Vibrant Villages Covered

The villages included: Uchal Pukhari, Khatimari, Kalamati, Sahebganj, Patharsan, Bakshiganj, Singimari Paschimpar, and Singimari Bhetaguri from Cooch Behar; Arjunpur from Dakshin Dinajpur; Caron Tea Garden and Pradhanpara from Jalpaiguri; Today Tangta Khasmahal from Kalimpong; Dangra Dangri, Ramganj, and Katgaon from Uttar Dinajpur; and Saurinibasti from Darjeeling. These locations were selected based on their agro-ecological uniqueness and limited access to mainstream extension services.

Key Highlights of Interventions

VKSA activities in these villages emphasized participatory problem identification and solution planning. Farmers were sensitized to climate-resilient crops, integrated farming systems, and low-cost natural farming practices. Awareness on schemes like PM-KISAN, crop insurance, and use of Kisan Sarathi and e-NAM was disseminated. Technical sessions focused on local priorities such as seed availability, water management, pest control, fodder production, livestock care, and the role of SHGs and FPOs in rural transformation. Notably, women farmers shared traditional innovations and aspirations for greater access to market and training.

Outcomes

The outreach in Vibrant Villages under VKSA led to a strong sense of inclusion among farmers residing in geographically isolated zones. It stimulated grassroots dialogue, revealed critical infrastructure and service gaps, and encouraged convergence among local stakeholders. Importantly, farmer feedback collected during these events is shaping district-level and state-level agricultural action plans aligned with real needs.

Way Forward

To build on VKSA outcomes in Vibrant Villages, it is recommended that a dedicated convergence framework be institutionalized involving KVKs, State Line Departments, Panchayati Raj Institutions, and Rural Development missions. This should include a district-level planning cell for Vibrant Villages with annual targets for climate-smart interventions, market linkage development, farmer entrepreneurship support, and digital extension. Emphasis should be placed on creating permanent village resource hubs with agri-clinics, input access, and demonstration units, ensuring sustained engagement beyond the campaign period.

Chapter 9: Media Mobilization to Amplify VKSA in Zone-V

- Radio Talks: 53
- TV Programmes: 139
- Newspaper Coverage: 732
- WhatsApp messages sent: 15,843
- Farmers benefitted through WhatsApp : 7,92,150
- Facebook updates: 1090
- Facebook updates views: 1,42,818
- YouTube updates : 161
- YouTube updates views: 28552
- X updates : 1364
- X updates views: 88282
- Instagram updates : 44
- Instagram update views: 24330

The Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan witnessed unprecedented media outreach in Zone-V (comprising West Bengal, Odisha, and Andaman & Nicobar Islands), reflecting a deliberate strategy to take the message of agricultural transformation to every household. An integrated media plan ensured that both traditional broadcast media and digital platforms were leveraged for maximum awareness, visibility, and farmer engagement.

Key highlight includes, a Live Phone-in programme was organised by Doordarshan, Kolkata exclusively on Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan. A total of 53 radio talks were broadcast, helping reach farming households across difficult terrains, particularly in tribal and coastal belts where internet connectivity is often limited. Complementing this, 139 television programmes were aired on regional and national networks, featuring expert discussions, success stories, and real-time field updates. These broadcasts served as a credible and accessible source of information, reinforcing campaign objectives through audio visual learning as the power of radio and television, still dominant in many rural landscapes, was strategically tapped to disseminate key campaign messages.

Print media played a pivotal role in connecting with the rural readership. With 732 newspaper articles and features published during the campaign, VKSA's grassroots activities were consistently highlighted across local and state-level dailies. These included coverage of launch events, farmer interaction programmes, success stories of innovative practices, and district-level outcomes. The presence of campaign updates in vernacular newspapers especially bolstered trust and ensured inclusivity in communication.

Transformative Role of Social Media in Real-Time Farmer Engagement

The real game-changer, however, was the extensive use of social media, which brought a dynamic, real-time dimension to the campaign. Social media updates allowed for daily documentation, rapid outreach, and interactive dissemination of both scientific content and field activities.

Among digital channels, WhatsApp emerged as the most powerful grassroots engagement tool, with 15,843 targeted messages sent during the campaign. These messages reached an estimated 7,92,150 farmers, delivering weather updates, scientific advisories, programme reminders, and motivational content directly to their phones. This wide reach underlines the potential of mobile-based platforms in transforming extension services in real-time.

Facebook was used strategically to document campaign milestones, share visuals, and engage with a wider digital audience. A total of 1,090 updates were posted, which garnered over 1.42 lakh views, reflecting strong digital footfall and community interest. These updates often showcased village-level events, training programs, and testimonials from participating farmers, thereby creating a ripple effect of inspiration across districts.

The campaign's presence on X (formerly Twitter) also generated remarkable traction. With 1,364 posts and over 88,000 views, it became an effective platform for real-time reporting and official visibility. KVKs, ATARIs, and ICAR institutions used this platform to engage with stakeholders, amplify announcements, and share knowledge content across networks of researchers, policymakers, and practitioners.

The VKSA also reached visual audiences through 161 YouTube updates, which drew over 28,552 views. These video-based storytelling efforts helped document success stories, field interactions, and expert sessions in a format that could be repeatedly accessed and shared. Similarly, Instagram, with 44 visually rich updates, attracted over 24,330 views, capturing the aesthetic and emotional appeal of grassroots agricultural resilience.

Media as a Catalyst of Participatory Transformation

The media strategy adopted in Zone-V for VKSA blended traditional credibility with digital agility, ensuring that campaign messages were heard, seen, and internalized across all demographics. It not only informed and inspired farmers but also documented and validated the ground-level achievements of the Abhiyan in public discourse. The combined reach of radio waves, print ink, and digital clicks helped transform VKSA from a government-led programme into a people's movement, demonstrating how technology, when used inclusively, can drive development at scale.

Implementation of PM-KISAN Campaign 'Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan' in Assam Islands

As part of the National PM-KISAN campaign 'Viksit Krishi Sankalp Abhiyan', launched on 29th May, 2021 the initiative is being actively implemented across all States of India and Assam Islands. The campaign aimed at empowering the farming community, is especially focusing on providing information on the various components of the scheme to the farmers and to ensure that they are aware of the benefits and how to avail the same. The campaign is being implemented in Assam Islands through various activities such as door-to-door visits, group meetings, and distribution of pamphlets. ## Chapter 10: Feedback Received, Key Outcomes and Lessons Learnt during VKSA Campaign

10.1 Odisha

I. Technology Delivery

1. Cluster-Based Demonstration of Climate-Resilient Technologies

- ▲ Promote large-scale demonstrations of high-yielding, pest-resistant, and climate-resilient crop varieties (e.g., drought-tolerant paddy, hybrid maize, improved pulses and oilseeds).
- ▲ Focus on integrated nutrient, pest, and water management suited for the agro-climatic zones of Odisha.

2. Digital Extension Ecosystem

- ▲ Scale up ICT tools (e.g., Kisan Sarathi, WhatsApp-based advisories, and mobile apps) for timely, location-specific advisories.
- ▲ Train field staff and farmers on use of AI-based tools for crop diagnostics and forecasting (e.g., disease alerts, weather-based advisories).

3. Strengthening KVK-FPO Interface

- ▲ Leverage KVKs for direct interface with Farmer Producer Organizations to channel technology demonstrations, seed distribution, and feedback mechanisms.
- ▲ Build FPOs' capacity on post-harvest management and value addition through KVK trainings.

4. Replicable Models for Tribal Areas

- ▲ Document and scale successful KVK-led interventions in tribal districts (e.g., millet intensification, goat rearing, backyard poultry) under SCSP/TSP components.

5. Bio-input Promotion and Soil Health Focus

- ▲ Encourage on-farm production of bio-fertilizers and bio-pesticides through input kits and training.
- ▲ Converge with Soil Health Card scheme to promote balanced nutrient management.

II. Convergence Mechanism

1. District-Level Convergence Committees

- ▲ Activate or form convergence platforms involving DAOs, ATMA, line departments, KVKs, Panchayati Raj Institutions (PRIs) and FPOs to plan and monitor VKSA interventions.

2. Unified Planning with Flagship Schemes

- ▲ Align VKSA activities with ongoing schemes like RKVY-RAFTAAR, PKVY, MIDH, PMKSY, and NMSA for financial and logistic synergy.

3. FPO-Centric Implementation Framework

- ▲ Treat FPOs as core units for input supply, aggregation, processing, and market linkage with line department handholding.
- ▲ Enable convergence of APICOL, Odisha Livelihoods Mission (OLM), and Horticulture Mission through joint activity mapping.

4. Block-Level Integrated Planning for Border and Tribal Areas

- ▲ Under VVP/SCSP, co-develop village action plans (VAPs) using baseline survey, climate vulnerability mapping, and KVK-backstopped technology basket.

5. Leveraging CSR and Private Sector

- ▲ Facilitate partnerships with agri-tech startups and private seed/fertilizer/input companies for demonstration and input support, especially in aspirational districts.

6. Real-Time Monitoring and Feedback Loop

- ▲ Use mobile-based MIS and VKSA dashboards to track outreach, feedback, and gaps. KVKs to feed real-time data on demo performance and farmer reach.

III. Suggestions

- Institutionalize KVK-District Agri Team synergy for seasonal planning and review.
- Develop a state-level convergence matrix mapping schemes, agencies, and target farmer groups.
- Conduct annual state-level review workshops for cross-learning and technology prioritization.
- Facilitate capacity building of extension personnel on next-gen agri technologies and participatory approaches.

10.2 West Bengal

I. Technology Delivery

1. Agro-Ecological Zonal Technology Prioritization

- ▲ Promote location-specific technologies suited for coastal, red-lateritic, gangetic alluvial, and terai zones:
  - Coastal: Salt-tolerant paddy, integrated brackish water aquaculture.
  - Red-lateritic: Drought-tolerant pulses, improved groundnut varieties, orchard-based farming systems.
  - Gangetic alluvium: High-yielding Boro rice, mustard, potato with micro-irrigation.
  - Terai: Improved jute varieties, eco-friendly retting, maize-pulses cropping systems.

2. Scaling Climate-Smart Interventions

- ▲ Promote conservation agriculture, SRI, raised-bed farming, and community water harvesting where applicable.
- ▲ Integrate climate advisories with package of practices (PoPs) through KVKs and ATMA networks.

3. ICT and Multilingual Digital Advisory Systems

- ▲ Strengthen digital extension through:
  - Bengali audio-visual advisories via WhatsApp/YouTube.
  - Integration with platforms like Krishak Bandhu, e-Pashu Chikitsa, and Farmer's App.
  - Use of AI-chatbots for weather and disease forecasts in Bengali.

4. KVK-Led Livelihood Models in SCSP/TSP Villages

- ▲ Demonstrate integrated models (crop-livestock-fishery-horticulture) in tribal and scheduled caste-dominated blocks.
- ▲ Promote backyard poultry, goatery, duck-cum-fish, mat nursery in tribal areas of Jhargram, Purulia, Bankura, Alipurduar etc.

5. Pulse and Oilseed Promotion

- ▲ Intensify CFLDs (Cluster Frontline Demonstrations) in low-productivity zones with line department convergence.
- ▲ Promote improved varieties (e.g., NRCG groundnut, Pant Lentil, TS-3R Toria) under rice fallows.

6. Soil Health and Organic Inputs

- ▲ Promote vermicomposting units at GP level; encourage school-level eco-clubs to adopt compost pits.
- ▲ Use Soil Health Card data for micronutrient management via SBG (slag-based gypsum) or customized fertilizers.

II. Convergence Mechanism

1. Strengthen District-Level Coordination Platforms

- ▲ Reinvigorate District Agri Task Forces involving KVKs, DAOs, ATMA, PRI reps, line departments (AH, Fishery, Horticulture).
- ▲ Conduct quarterly review meetings under the chairmanship of DM or ADM (ZP).

2. FPO and SHG-Centric Outreach

- ▲ Leverage FPOs, WSHGs (under NRLM/OLM) for frontline demonstrations and input delivery.
- ▲ Align with SHG-BLF structures under West Bengal State Rural Livelihoods Mission (WBSRLM).

3. Converge with Flagship Schemes

- ▲ Link VKSA with:
  - Krishak Bandhu (state scheme) for insurance and input delivery.
  - RIDF-supported irrigation and farm mechanization under NABARD.
  - RKVY, PKVY, PMKSY, and WDC-PMKSY for infrastructure and water-saving technologies.

4. Village Action Plans under Border and Tribal Blocks

- ▲ Prepare Village Action Plans (VAPs) under Vibrant Villages Programme (VVP) and SCSP in districts like Darjeeling, Kalimpong, Jalpaiguri, Cooch Behar.
- ▲ Map local assets, needs, and ensure KVK-backed planning.

5. PPP and CSR Engagement

- ▲ Collaborate with agri-input companies and CSR foundations (e.g., TATA, ITC) for demonstration kits and training logistics.

6. Monitoring & Documentation Framework

- ▲ Use GIS-linked dashboards, WhatsApp-based field reporting, and photo-based documentation for real-time review.
- ▲ Empower KVKs to generate impact case studies and “best practice” booklets.

III. Suggestions

- Organize zonal workshops (North Bengal, South Bengal, Western Zone) for thematic experience sharing.
- Institutionalize KVK-ATMA-FPO-PRIs linkages with defined roles for planning, execution, and feedback.
- Promote community-managed models (seed banks, water structures, fodder plots) as self-reliant units.
- Train rural youth as Agri-Digital Sakhis/Sahayaks in each GP under VKSA convergence.

10.3 A & N Islands

I. Technology Delivery

1. Island-Specific Integrated Farming Systems (IFS)

- ▲ Promote climate-resilient IFS models suited for limited landholdings, integrating:
  - Coconut + poultry/duck + fish pond + vegetable unit.
  - Arecanut + banana + black pepper + apiary + backyard poultry (Nicobar).
- ▲ Demonstrate low-external input farming models using locally available resources.

2. Tropical Horticulture and Homestead Intensification

- ▲ Promote:
  - Improved varieties of banana (G-9, Dwarf Cavendish), papaya (Red Lady), pineapple (MD2), and tubers (elephant foot yam).
  - Coconut rejuvenation through root feeding and neem-based pest management.
- ▲ Encourage homestead-based vegetable kits using vertical beds, sack cultivation, and shade nets.

3. Promotion of Nutri-Gardens and School Nutrition Models

- ▲ Establish nutri-gardens in schools and Anganwadis with support from KVKs and Zilla Parishads.
- ▲ Include iron-rich spinach, amaranthus, drumstick, and vitamin-rich pumpkin, papaya, etc.

4. Climate-Smart and Soil Health Technologies

- ▲ Promote:
  - Rainwater harvesting and micro-irrigation for rainfed farming areas.
  - Use of bio-fertilizers, vermicompost, and enriched compost in acid sandy soils.
  - Salt-tolerant rice varieties (e.g., CSR 43) and contingency cropping plans in cyclone/flood-prone blocks (Diglipur, Rangat).

5. Promotion of Backyard Animal Husbandry and Fisheries

- ▲ Encourage:
  - Backyard poultry (Vanaraja, Gramapriya), piggery (Ghungroo, Andaman local), and goatery in tribal villages.
  - Small-scale aquaculture: cage culture of seabass, milkfish, and mud crab fattening using low-cost models.

6. Digital Extension and Multilingual IEC

- ▲ Develop Nicobarese and Bengali-translated digital advisories and videos.
- ▲ Leverage offline apps, community radio, and mobile van outreach in remote islands.
- ▲ Train local youth as Krishi Digital Ambassadors in Gram Panchayats.

II. Convergence Mechanism

1. Village-Level Planning through Convergence Platforms

- ▲ Promote Village Action Plans (VAPs) for tribal villages in Nicobar, Rangat, Mayabunder, etc., integrating:
  - Line departments (Agriculture, AH, Fisheries, Tribal Welfare), KVKs, SHGs, PRIs, and NGOs.
  - SCSP/TSP components for inclusive technology targeting.

2. Linkage with Island-Specific Schemes

- ▲ Converge VKSA with:
  - Tribal Sub-Plan (TSP) and Ecosystem-Based Livelihood Restoration Projects.
  - MGNREGS for water conservation pits, compost pits, and fencing.
  - Department of AH&VS programs for breed improvement and vaccination drives.

3. FPOs and SHGs as Delivery Channels

- ▲ Strengthen SHG-based FPOs and cooperatives under NABARD and NRLM support.
- ▲ Use SHGs for input distribution, nutri-garden kits, and fish seedling supply.

4. Strengthening of KVK-Line Department Synergy

- ▲ KVKs (e.g., Nicobar, South Andaman) to:

- Lead frontline demonstrations and training in convergence with ATMA.
- Organize joint field days and farmer-scientist interactions with DAOs and PRIs.

5. Involvement of Armed Forces & Civil Agencies in Outreach

- ▲ Collaborate with Indian Navy/Coast Guard for logistical support to remote tribal islands.
- ▲ Use PRI-SDM task forces to coordinate input movement and farmer interface in outer islands.

6. Robust Monitoring and Knowledge Management

- ▲ Real-time documentation via geo-tagged photos, short video stories from SHGs/youths.
- ▲ Promote story-based documentation in regional languages on success cases (e.g., crab farming, integrated pig-fish units).

III. Suggestions

- ▲ Develop an Island Agri-Livelihood Compendium based on VKSA initiatives.
- ▲ Encourage eco-agri-tourism initiatives in collaboration with tourism department in Neil, Havelock, and Car Nicobar.
- ▲ Establish a VKSA Convergence Resource Centre at each KVK with mapping of schemes, tech advisories, and convergence partners.

Chapter 11: Farmers' Expectations, Key Learning, Knowledge and Skill Gaps Identified and Way Forward

11.1 Odisha

Farmers' Expectations from Research Institutes

Comprehensive Strategy for Sustainable and Climate-Resilient Agriculture

To address the multifaceted challenges of Indian agriculture, particularly in resource-constrained and vulnerable regions, an integrated approach is essential. This includes technological, ecological, and institutional innovations across water, soil, seed, machinery, and farming systems.

1. Water Resource Management and Irrigation Optimization

Development of site-specific groundwater recharge structures and evaluation of suitable lining materials for farm ponds is critical for water conservation. Additionally, precision irrigation scheduling using real-time soil moisture sensors and the optimization of water distribution mechanisms under canal command systems are vital for enhancing irrigation efficiency and water productivity. For coastal agro-ecologies, monitoring seawater intrusion and formulating management strategies for the safe use of saline water are imperative for protecting and sustaining agricultural livelihoods.

2. Soil Health and Problematic Land Reclamation

Addressing soil-related constraints requires integrated solutions, including the reclamation of degraded or industrially affected lands into arable fields, effective management of acid soils, and mitigation of salinity issues. These efforts must be supported by context-specific soil amendments and location-based fertility management practices.

3. Seed Systems and Crop Varieties

Ensuring the timely availability of high-quality seeds that are resistant to pests (e.g., Brown Plant Hopper), tolerant to herbicides, and enriched with special nutritional qualities is essential for improving crop resilience and productivity across agro-climatic zones. Simultaneously, there must be a thrust on developing and disseminating climate-resilient and disease-resistant varieties suitable for diverse conditions.

4. Integrated Farming Systems and Diversification

Promotion and assessment of location-specific Integrated Farming Systems (IFS) combining crops, livestock, poultry, fisheries, and mushrooms can significantly enhance water productivity, profitability, and sustainability, especially for smallholders. These models should be tailored to local resources and market linkages, offering viable alternatives to mono-cropping and stubble burning practices.

5. Farm Mechanization and Women-Friendly Tools

Support for small farm mechanization, with a focus on women-friendly, easy-to-operate implements suitable for small and medium-sized holdings, is essential to reduce drudgery, enhance efficiency, and increase gender inclusivity in agriculture.

6. Climate-Resilient Technologies and Capacity Building

There is an urgent need to implement contingency planning for rice-based cropping systems and to encourage crop diversification for climate resilience. Farmer training and demonstrations should focus on emerging technologies such as water-saving methods (e.g., DSR), natural/organic farming, and integrated pest and nutrient management. Immediate actions to minimize stubble burning through awareness, technology adoption, and policy support must also be prioritized.

- Irrigation Efficiency: Precision irrigation, Development of groundwater recharge structures, farm pond linings, and rainwater harvesting models, especially for small and marginal farmers.
- Climate-Resilient & Integrated Farming Systems: Location-specific Integrated Farming Systems (IFS) combining crops, livestock, fisheries, horticulture, and mushroom units; Strengthen crop diversification strategies
- Soil Health & Coastal Resource Management: Reclamation measures of degraded and industrial soils, management of acid/saline soils; adaptive strategies for safe use of saline water in coastal agriculture.
- Seed & Mechanization Support: Timely access to resilient, nutrient-rich crop varieties and seasonal needs (e.g., winter mango); women-friendly, easy-to-operate farm implements
- Training and Capacity Building: Practical training in diverse enterprises - mushroom, beekeeping, poultry, fish farming, medicinal plant cultivation, etc.

Key Learning of VKSA

Agricultural research must be farmer-centric, focused on generating practical, farm-ready technologies that directly address field-level challenges. This requires scientists to move beyond laboratory boundaries and engage regularly with farmers to understand ground realities. Cross-disciplinary exposure among researchers enhances their ability to design integrated, need-based solutions suited to diverse farming systems.

Timely access to quality inputs—especially seeds of improved varieties—is essential for boosting productivity. However, farmers frequently face issues related to the availability and affordability of quality seeds, fertilizers, and pesticides at the local level. This highlights the need for streamlined supply chains and local resource hubs.

Trust in science grows when technologies are communicated in locally relevant, agro-ecological, and socio-cultural contexts. Region-specific demonstrations, rather than generic recommendations, are far more effective in encouraging adoption. In this regard, participatory demonstrations involving farm women in areas such as mushroom cultivation, backyard poultry, and value addition have proven especially impactful for community mobilization and empowerment.

In fish farming areas, there is a growing need to expose farmers to best practices such as water quality management, disease control, and integrated aquaculture techniques. Across all sectors, low awareness about water-saving irrigation methods continues to be a major constraint, particularly in areas facing water stress.

Furthermore, poor infrastructural facilities often limit the adoption of improved agricultural technologies. Weak coordination between farmers and agriculture and allied departments results in low awareness and uptake of government schemes and scientific interventions. Strengthening institutional linkages and enhancing joint implementation with state line departments and ICAR institutes has been shown to improve outreach and effectiveness.

Finally, the absence of robust market linkages for produce remains a serious hurdle. Without reliable access to markets, farmers struggle to benefit from improved technologies or achieve income security. Strengthening post-harvest infrastructure and establishing farmer-market linkages is thus critical for sustaining agricultural growth and farmer livelihoods.

Knowledge and Skill Gaps Identified

Efficient water management remains a top priority across various cropping systems. There is an urgent need to promote water-saving irrigation techniques, such as Alternate Wetting and Drying (AWD) and micro-irrigation methods like drip and sprinkler systems. However, the operation and maintenance of micro-irrigation setups demand technical training to ensure their long-term efficiency and usability at the grassroots level. Complementary interventions in rainwater harvesting and groundwater recharge technologies are essential to mitigate water scarcity, particularly in vulnerable agro-ecologies.

Soil health management and crop residue handling must be emphasized to restore soil productivity, reduce environmental degradation, and promote sustainability. Training programs on low-cost production and use of biofertilizers and biocontrol agents can support the transition towards organic and natural farming.

Farmers also require practical training in plant protection measures, including identifying pests and diseases, choosing the correct management strategies, and detecting counterfeit or spurious pesticides. Skill enhancement in post-harvest handling, value addition, and safe storage practices is equally vital for minimizing losses and increasing profitability.

For fish farmers, there is a clear need for structured training on identifying quality seed, optimizing feeding intervals, recognizing early signs of disease, and maintaining farm records, which are critical for efficient and sustainable aquaculture. A major bottleneck is the lack of awareness and understanding of new agricultural technologies, IT-based solutions, and government schemes and support programs. Regular orientation sessions and practical demonstrations are required to bridge this knowledge gap.

To ensure effective technology transfer, stronger and more systematic linkages among scientists, KVKs, extension personnel, state line departments, and farmers must be established. Strengthening these multi-level institutional connections will enable timely communication of innovations, facilitate need-based interventions, and improve uptake of schemes at the field level.

Ultimately, training on improved and emerging technologies such as Direct Seeded Rice (DSR), Herbicide-Tolerant (HT) rice, and water-efficient practices will empower farmers to adapt to climate stress and improve productivity. Investing in holistic capacity building and last-mile connectivity is crucial for achieving sustainable and resilient farming systems.

Way Forward

Human Resource and Youth Engagement Policies

There is an urgent need to revise cadre strength, streamline promotion policies, and introduce performance-linked incentive schemes to boost morale and efficiency among agricultural personnel. Additionally, targeted efforts are required to attract rural youth to agriculture through entrepreneurship opportunities, agri-tech exposure, and skill-based incentives.

Input Accessibility and Regulatory Reforms

Ensuring timely and adequate availability of quality seeds, fertilizers, and other farm inputs at the block level is critical. Alongside this, strict regulation is necessary to curb the sale of spurious pesticides by unauthorized dealers, protecting both crops and farmer incomes.

Market Reforms and Value Chain Development

A robust and farmer-friendly market policy must be developed to guarantee fair prices and timely sale of produce. Investment in cold storage infrastructure and agro-processing/value addition units will enhance shelf life, reduce post-harvest losses, and improve farmer profitability.

Water Policy and Irrigation Infrastructure

There is a pressing need to integrate micro-irrigation systems with auxiliary storage structures in canal command areas. In over-exploited and coastal regions, policies must support groundwater recharge, promote optimal pumping strategies, and incentivize rainwater harvesting.

Governance, Coordination, and Delivery Mechanisms

A single-window system should be institutionalized for all agri-related services, ensuring efficient delivery and grievance redressal. Campaigns like pre-kharif drives should follow bottom-up planning approaches, include all line departments (including fisheries), and be supported with adequate logistics and operational funds.

Subsidy and Scheme Implementation Reforms

Revisiting the existing subsidy delivery mechanisms is essential to ensure transparency, timely release, and real benefit to the farmers. Scheme implementation should be farmer-centric, with simplified procedures and integrated support at the local level.

Promotion of Organic and Natural Farming

Policymakers should prioritize regions with suitable agro-ecological conditions for the immediate rollout of organic/natural farming. These areas can serve as demonstration hubs, supported with certification, market linkage, and input availability.

11.2 West Bengal

Expectation of Farmers

Farmers in West Bengal expressed a strong need for location-specific, climate-resilient technologies, particularly for lowland and flood-prone areas. They highlighted the importance of developing and demonstrating improved varieties of rice, mustard, vegetables, and Darjeeling mandarin, along with suitable alternative crops for waterlogged and extreme weather conditions.

There is growing demand for quality seeds, healthy planting materials, and nano-based inputs like urea, phosphate, and potash for enhancing crop productivity. Access to critical production inputs such as irrigation pipes, sprayers, and eco-friendly pesticides was also identified as essential.

Farmers expect on-field demonstrations and practical training in diverse agricultural and allied activities—ranging from mushroom cultivation, honeybee keeping, fish production, and poultry farming to medicinal plant cultivation. They emphasized the need for advisory support on pest and disease management, seed production, and integrated farming systems, especially those compatible with jute-based cropping patterns.

In the fisheries sector, farmers called for the development of poly-lined ponds in dryland areas, short-duration aquaculture models using high-value species, and utilization of effluent water for fish culture. They also sought training on low-cost fish feed production, quality fish seed, and multi-trophic aquaculture systems using locally available species. Reviving derelict water bodies for aquaculture was seen as a priority in several districts.

Expectations also include the establishment of rural entrepreneurship models, such as value chains based on Black Bengal goats and backyard poultry, supported by feed banks and hatcheries. Farmers emphasized the need for robust market linkages and creation of rural value chains under B2C models to ensure fair prices and better income.

Finally, farmers expressed their hope that such participatory initiatives and capacity-building programmes continue regularly, enabling them to stay updated on new technologies and make informed decisions for climate-resilient and profitable farming.

- Access to Quality Inputs & Critical Resources: Timely availability of quality seeds, healthy planting materials, and nano-fertilizers; Provision of essential inputs such as irrigation pipes, sprayers, and eco-friendly plant protection measures.
- Climate-Resilient & Location-Specific Technologies: Improved crop varieties (mustard, vegetables, Darjeeling mandarin); alternative crops and farming models for flood-prone, waterlogged, and stress-affected areas.
- Aquaculture: Poly-lined ponds, short-cycle high-value fish culture; low-cost fish feed, and revival of derelict water bodies.
- Entrepreneurship & Market Linkages: Value chains for Black Bengal goats, backyard poultry, and support systems like feed banks and hatcheries; market linkages for better price realization.
- Training and Capacity Building: Practical training in diverse enterprises - mushroom, beekeeping, poultry, fish farming, medicinal plant cultivation, etc.

Key Learning

1. Efficient Water Management and Irrigation Strategies

- Water-saving techniques like precision irrigation, alternate wetting and drying (AWD), and direct seeded rice (DSR) should be widely promoted through demonstrations and training programs tailored to specific cropping systems.
- Micro-irrigation integration with auxiliary storage structures is essential in canal command areas to ensure equitable and timely water supply, especially during peak crop demand periods.
- Groundwater recharge and rainwater harvesting technologies should be promoted in overexploited blocks and coastal aquifers to improve water availability and reduce saline water intrusion risks.

2. Soil Health Restoration and Resource Conservation

- Emphasis should be laid on reclaiming degraded and industrially impacted soils through bio-amelioration and soil enrichment techniques, converting them into arable land.
- Soil health management, including the use of low-cost biofertilizers and in-situ crop residue management, must be integrated with organic and natural farming models to enhance long-term productivity.

- A proactive approach to plant protection and pest/disease identification through field-based training can reduce over-reliance on chemical pesticides and promote sustainable farming practices.

3. Climate-Resilient and Integrated Farming Systems

- Integrated Farming Systems (IFS) that incorporate crops, livestock, horticulture, aquaculture, mushrooms, and backyard poultry offer sustainable and diversified livelihood options, especially for smallholders and tribal communities.
- Contingency plans and crop diversification strategies are needed for rice-dominated areas, particularly under changing climatic conditions, to ensure year-round income and resilience.
- Coastal zones require adaptive management models that integrate salt-tolerant crops, disease surveillance, and alternate income-generating activities like fish farming and duck rearing.

4. Seed, Input, and Market Access Reforms

- Ensure timely and adequate availability of certified seeds and quality farm inputs (fertilizers, pesticides) at the block level through regulated supply chains and monitoring of unauthorized sellers.
- Establish robust market infrastructure—including procurement at local processing units and cold storage—to reduce post-harvest losses and improve farmer incomes.
- A revised subsidy and incentive mechanism, aligned with regional priorities, can enhance uptake of government schemes and technologies, especially for natural and organic farming.

5. Capacity Building and Inclusive Technology Dissemination

- Localized technology demonstrations, especially those involving farm women in areas such as mushroom cultivation, value addition, and backyard poultry, improve adoption and empower rural communities.
- Regular cross-disciplinary field interactions between scientists and farmers foster trust, identify ground-level challenges, and ensure that lab-generated innovations are farm-ready and locally relevant.
- Skill enhancement programs should focus on water management, pest/disease diagnostics, post-harvest handling, and use of digital tools for decision support.

6. Policy Integration and Governance Reform

- Institutionalize a single-window service platform for delivery of all agri-related schemes and advisories to improve access, transparency, and convergence across departments.
- Policy frameworks should prioritize youth engagement, revised cadre strength for extension staff, and dedicated funding for campaign logistics (e.g., seating, meals, communication materials).
- Stronger coordination between ICAR, KVKs, State Line Departments, and NGOs is essential for impactful implementation of programs like Pre-Kharif Campaigns, PM-Kisan, and ATMA.

Key Learnings from Field Observations in West Bengal

1. Low Farm Income Rooted in Traditional Practices and Weak Market Linkages

- Continued dependence on low-value crops like paddy, underutilization of small landholdings, and absence of food processing units are limiting farm profitability.
- Poor market access, low sale prices, and lack of village-level marketing hubs or value chains hinder farmers from realizing the true value of their produce.

2. Limited Adoption of Technology and Climate-Resilient Practices

- Farmers lack awareness and training on modern agricultural technologies, scientific fish farming, and alternative livelihood options like ornamental fisheries.
- There is high demand for climate-resilient varieties and healthy planting materials of Darjeeling mandarin, ginger, and large cardamom, especially in hill regions.

3. Insufficient Institutional Support and Fragmented Service Delivery

- ▲ Farmers face major gaps in accessing government schemes due to lack of awareness, poor handholding, and absence of single-window input support systems.

- ▲ Formation of farmer institutions like SHGs and FPOs is inadequate, weakening their ability to aggregate produce or access credit and subsidies effectively.

4. Climate Vulnerability and Lack of Adaptive Strategies

- ▲ Climate shocks, particularly flooding, have exposed the lack of alternate livelihood strategies and risk preparedness among farming communities.
- ▲ Wildlife encroachment, especially in Kalimpong and Darjeeling, remains a major deterrent to continued agricultural activity in these sensitive zones.

5. Need for Localized Innovation and Infrastructure

- ▲ There is an urgent requirement for ergonomic, small-scale farm machinery suitable for hilly terrains, and specific pest management tools like fruit fly traps for Darjeeling mandarin.
- ▲ The absence of decentralized infrastructure, such as processing units and rural incubation hubs, further limits opportunities for value addition and entrepreneurship.

Knowledge and Skill Gap Identified

Low Awareness of Modern and Sustainable Farming Practices

Farmers lack adequate training in soil fertility management, rainwater harvesting, natural farming inputs such as biofertilizers, and the sustainable reuse of stubble to enhance soil health.

Limited Exposure to High-Value and Non-Conventional Crops

There is a significant gap in awareness regarding profitable alternatives to traditional crops, including high-value vegetables, floriculture, and non-conventional cropping systems suited to local agro-climatic conditions.

Need for Integrated Farming and Diversified Livelihood Strategies

Farmers require capacity building on integrated and multi-cropping systems, along with knowledge of how to combine crop production with livestock, fisheries, and horticulture to enhance resilience and income.

Insufficient Skills in Livestock and Backyard Enterprises

Practical know-how on scientific goatery, backyard poultry using indigenous breeds, and small-scale animal husbandry remains weak, limiting farmers' ability to generate supplementary income.

Gaps in Aquaculture Knowledge and Practices

Scientific training on seasonal aquaculture in derelict or marginal water bodies, quality fish seed production, low-cost feed development, and value addition in fish products is urgently needed.

Lack of Practical Training in Horticulture and Propagation

Farmers need hands-on skills in the propagation of fruit and flower crops, nursery management, and care of region-specific horticultural varieties.

Deficiencies in Crop Health and Seed Production Skills

There is a need for focused training on pest and disease management in major crops, as well as seed production techniques for vegetables and other important field crops.

Limited Familiarity with Emerging Technologies

Awareness of innovative practices such as carbon farming, hydroponics, aquaponics, mushroom cultivation, and apiculture remains low, despite their relevance to smallholders and youth-led entrepreneurship.

Weak Institutional and Group-Based Capacities

Farmers lack orientation and facilitation support for forming and managing SHGs and FPOs, which are essential for collective marketing, input procurement, and financial access.

Way Forward

1. Gaps in Scheme Coverage and Inclusion

- Major regional crops such as Darjeeling mandarin, ginger, and large cardamom remain excluded from crop insurance schemes, leaving farmers vulnerable to climate and market shocks.
- Existing wildlife damage compensation policies are inadequate, heavily bureaucratic, and fail to address the actual economic loss faced by farmers.
- Many farmers remain outside the ambit of centrally and state-sponsored schemes due to poor outreach, rigid eligibility norms, and fragmented implementation.

2. Institutional and Infrastructural Strengthening

- ICAR research stations in the region require additional scientific manpower, enhanced mandates, and extended outreach to address emerging agri-development challenges.
- There is an urgent need for upgraded infrastructure across ICAR Institutes and KVKs, including laboratories, seed and soil testing units, value addition facilities, and guesthouses to support training and capacity-building efforts.

3. Convergence and Coordination Deficits

- Lack of institutional convergence between KVKs, ICAR institutes, NGOs, and State Departments weakens the delivery of village-specific development interventions.
- Linking training, extension, and financial institutions with the targets of flagship schemes is critical for synchronized planning and impactful delivery.
- The current system of fund routing (e.g., via GTA in certain regions) leads to delays, misallocation, and inefficient resource use.

4. Strengthening Farmer-Led Institutions and Market Linkages

- There is insufficient policy support for officially linking FPOs, SHGs, and cooperatives with government institutions and agricultural universities for sustained mentorship and growth.
- A robust framework is needed to enable village-level production hubs, rural marketing platforms, and direct consumer connect mechanisms that boost income and local enterprise.
- Community facilities ensuring equitable access to farm machinery and post-harvest infrastructure remain underdeveloped in many districts.

5. Digital Integration and Rural Innovation Ecosystems

- Absence of integrated digital platforms limits the tracking, coordination, and convergence of agricultural and rural development activities.
- A clear policy is needed to promote rural incubators at KVKs and ICAR Institutes to foster innovation, entrepreneurship, and last-mile technology access in an enabling ecosystem.
- Farmer mentoring and handholding through orientation programs by designated ICAR/KVK staff must be institutionalized as part of developmental planning.

11.3 A & N Islands

Farmers' Expectation

- Develop and promote low-input, climate-resilient crop varieties, livestock breeds, and sustainable farming practices to reduce dependence on costly external inputs and improve self-reliance in production.
- Accelerate research and availability of affordable, locally adaptable farm machinery and tools, particularly suited for small and marginal farmers to reduce drudgery and improve efficiency.
- Design and deliver targeted technologies, training modules, and incubation support to empower rural youth and women as agri-preneurs in start-ups, value chains, and farm-based enterprises.

- Ensure timely and accessible supply of bio-inputs, green manures, vermicompost, and eco-friendly pest control solutions through government-supported channels to strengthen natural and organic farming practices.
- Promote cost-effective post-harvest handling and decentralized processing technologies, especially for highly perishable fruits, vegetables, and fisheries in island and remote ecosystems.
- Encourage integrated agro-tourism models combining agriculture, culture, and rural hospitality, creating additional income opportunities for farm families while showcasing local traditions and sustainable practices.
  - Low-input, sustainable farming systems, Access to farm machinery for smallholders, agri-enterprise development, input supply and post-harvest value chains, agro-tourism
  - Training and Capacity Building: Practical training in diverse enterprises - mushroom, beekeeping, poultry, fish farming, medicinal plant cultivation, etc.

Key Learning

Rising Demand for Organic and Low-Input Agriculture

Farmers are increasingly inclined toward organic and sustainable farming systems, but the lack of reliable access to quality organic inputs—such as biofertilizers, compost, and eco-friendly pest control agents—continues to limit large-scale adoption.

Urgent Need for Scalable Eco-Friendly Pest Management

To support low-input agriculture, there is a pressing requirement for locally adaptable, cost-effective, and environmentally safe pest and disease management technologies that reduce dependency on chemical inputs.

Growing Interest in Diversified Aquaculture for Income Security

Farmers are proactively exploring aquaculture-based diversification by introducing fast-growing species like Pacu, Pangasius, and Nile Tilapia, alongside high-value edible species such as Anabas and Magur, to maximize productivity, profitability, and year-round income opportunities.

Knowledge Gaps Identified

- ⊙ There is a critical need for intensive capacity building on Integrated Pest Management (IPM) and Integrated Nutrient Management (INM) practices in fruit and vegetable cultivation to reduce chemical dependency and improve crop health sustainably.
- ⊙ Scientific training on organic manure production covering composting, vermicomposting, and bio-input formulation is essential to empower farmers with sustainable nutrient solutions and reduce reliance on costly external inputs.
- ⊙ Major knowledge gaps persist in feed optimization, disease prevention, and health care management in livestock, poultry, and fisheries, leading to suboptimal productivity and higher risks in farm enterprises.
- ⊙ Practical, hands-on training in seed production and hatchery management of high-potential fish species such as Pacu, Pangasius, Nile Tilapia, Anabas, Singhi, and Magur is urgently required to scale up quality aquaculture ventures.

Way Forward

- Short term : Promote low-input, high-value crops, build farmer skills in organic and IPM practices, support fish seed production, and integrate agro-tourism for sustainable rural livelihoods.
- Medium-term: Support organic input production units, strengthen branding and market linkages for island produce, promote mini-processing units, and build farmer skills through targeted training.
- Long-term: Establish institutional mechanisms for island-specific organic farming research, develop infrastructure for inputs and value chains, and set up hatcheries and broodbanks for high-value freshwater fish.

Chapter 12: Overall Way Forward for Zone-V

Short-Term

- Promote low-input & high-value crops; Ensure quality seed availability in field crops/ horticulture/ livestock/ aquaculture; integrate agro-tourism for sustainable rural livelihoods.
- Launch micro-FLDs and diagnostic trials on key crops
- Build farmers' skills in new farming systems/technologies through training and demonstration

Medium-Term

- Strengthen convergence with MGNREGA and National Rural Livelihood Mission (NRLM)
- Facilitate women-led SHGs as agri-entrepreneur service units
- Strengthen branding and market linkages, promote mini-processing units

Long-Term

- Establish District Agri-Innovation Hubs with incubators for youth/startups.
- Promote biovillage clusters based on carbon-neutral technologies.

Chapter 13: Overall Policy issues identified in Zone-V

Improved Access to Quality Inputs and Market Support

- Timely and decentralized availability of certified seeds, fertilizers, and farm inputs at the block levels, strong regulatory mechanisms to curb the sale of spurious product.
- Robust market linkages and infrastructure, including cold storage facilities, local value addition units for profitability and reduce post-harvest loss.

Water Resource Management

- Integration through canal water supply, especially during critical crop stages
- Groundwater recharge and rainwater harvesting through policy support.

Institutional Reforms

- Single-window system for delivery of all agri-services, inputs, schemes, and grievance redressal - convergence across departments and schemes.

Human Resource Gaps

- Inadequate infrastructure at KVKs and ICAR institutes, including training facilities, and value addition units
- Shortage of scientific and technical manpower in KVKs, Institutes/SAUs, Govt. Departments

Digital Ecosystems

- Absence of integrated digital platforms and rural incubation.

Chapter 14: Farm Innovations in Zone-V

14.1 Tractor Operated Low-Cost Bed Maker from unused cultivator

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Animesh Singha

Age: 51 years

Education: Graduation

Experience: 18 years

Contact Details: Village: Kailaba, District: Malda, State: West Bengal

Mobile No: 8967302049

Brief Description of Innovation:

In a region frequently challenged by flash floods and erratic rainfall, farmers in Malda are increasingly seeking resilient solutions to overcome waterlogging and crop failure. Recognizing this need, Shri Animesh Singha has developed a cost-effective and innovative raised bed implement, repurposing old farm machinery to enhance climate-smart cultivation.

Innovation's Highlights

Shri Singha modified an unused cultivator by removing the tiller and integrating two plant plates at a 1-meter distance. This repurposed implement enables precise and efficient formation of raised beds with a consistent depth of 45 cm, ideal for cultivating water-sensitive crops like pulses and maize.

Benefits/Advantages

- Field Capacity: 3 hrs. per acre (1 acre = 3 bigha)
- Operating Cost: ₹7200/- per acre
- Manual Alternative: Requires 36 labourers per acre at a cost of ₹21,000
- Net Savings: ₹13800 per acre
- Seasonal Income Generation: Estimated at ₹50,000 through service provision to neighbouring farmers through CHC (Custom Hiring Centre)

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

This frugal innovation addresses the core issue of poor drainage in flood-prone areas. By ensuring timely bed formation and promoting improved root aeration, the implement significantly enhances crop survival and productivity in vulnerable conditions. Its affordability, ease of use, and income-generating potential also position it as a replicable model for other smallholders facing similar challenges. Quite suitable for use in flood-prone area to facilitate mechanization It can be scalable in 20000 ha under Rabi Maize & 5000 ha of Cucurbit & Chilly Crops. Also scalable for such agro-ecologies in the country.

Scientific Validation required: To some extent

Domain: Flood Prone Area

14.2 Low-cost Portable Mushroom Rack for Urban Farming of Paddy Straw Mushroom

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Biraja Prasad Panda

Age: 45 Years

Education: Graduation

Experience: 15 years

Contact Details: Village: Koluhatana, Block: Begunia, District: Khordha, State: Odisha

Mobile No: 8763186926

Brief Description of Innovation:

In response to limited space availability and the growing demand for home-based food production, Shri Biraja Prasad Panda has designed an innovative, low-cost mushroom cultivation rack suited for urban and peri-urban households. His solution addresses both spatial constraints and the need for supplementary income among marginal growers and women entrepreneurs.

Innovation's Highlights

Shri Panda's design is a lightweight, four-foot-high structure measuring 19 inches in length and width, constructed using durable iron metal and 1-inch PVC pipes. It features two cultivation beds with carefully measured ventilation gaps—6 inches between the ground and the first bed, and 21 inches between the first and second—for optimum air circulation crucial to healthy mushroom growth.

Benefits/Advantages

- Total Cost: Only ₹900, making it highly affordable for small-scale growers
- Ease of Use: The rack is designed for six-sided access, enabling easy watering, monitoring, and harvesting
- Space Efficiency: Ideal for use in compact areas, such as balconies, rooftops, or small courtyards

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

This innovation is fostering urban and micro-farming models, especially among women and youth, by enabling nutritious mushroom cultivation in confined spaces. It offers an accessible entry point into sustainable agripreneurship, thereby contributing to household nutrition security and livelihood diversification. Its simplicity and affordability make it easily replicable across similar urban and peri-urban contexts. Affordable for small-scale growers, thereby making it ideal for use in compact areas.

Scientific Validation required: To some extent

Domain: Propagation of mushroom cultivation among urban & peri-urban households having confined spaces.

14.3 Manual Urea Mineral Molasses Block (UMMB) Machine

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Karnadeb Roy

Age: 39 Years

Education: Matriculation

Experience: 27 years

Contact Details: Village: Moulani Haat, Krant, District: Jalpaiguri, State: West Bengal

Mobile: 9800698035

Brief Description of Innovation:

Recognizing the need for cost-effective and efficient livestock supplementation, Shri Karnadeb Roy developed a Urea Mineral Molasses Block (UMMB) making unit. UMMBs play a crucial role in enhancing ruminant health by providing essential nutrients, leading to improved milk yield in cattle and weight gain in goats—both of which directly impact rural livelihoods and income.

Innovation's Highlights

The unit has been engineered with a user-friendly and sturdy structure suited for farm-level operations:

- Dimensions: Length – 22", Breadth – 11.5", Height – 36"
- Weight: ~65 kg, with scope lesser weight for portability based on user preference
- Production Efficiency: Capable of producing 20–25 UMMB blocks per hour
- Cost of Unit: ₹9,000, making it an affordable option for progressive livestock farmers

Benefits/Advantages

The adoption of UMMBs produced using this unit has resulted in:

- 23% increase in milk yield from dairy cattle
- 21% increase in body weight of goats, enhancing their market value and saleability

Such outcomes translate to better returns for smallholder farmers and promote the sustainable intensification of animal husbandry in mixed farming systems.

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

Shri Roy's innovation not only reduces dependence on commercial supplements but also encourages on-farm feed production, empowering farmers with greater control over animal nutrition. With its high productivity and proven impact, this farm-level UMMB unit has the potential to be scaled up through farmer producer groups, self-help groups, and rural youth training programs focused on value-added livestock practices. Potential to be scaled up by involving FPOs, SHGs, etc.

Scientific Validation required: To some extent

Domain: Animal Nutrition

14.4 Mechanized Ber Shredder: A Low-Cost Mechanized Solution for Pruning and Organic Recycling

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Ananda Kumar Sahoo

Age: 51 Years

Education: Matriculation

Experience: 35 years

Contact Details: Village: Sargiguda, District: Kalahandi, State: Odisha

Mobile No: 7978575862

Brief Description of Innovation:

Ber orchards require regular post-harvest pruning to stimulate fresh shoot growth and enhance productivity. However, the thorny nature of Ber branches poses serious challenges to manual pruning and disposal, often leading to injuries, higher labour costs, and delays. To address this, Shri Ananda Kumar Sahoo developed a mechanized Ber Shredder, enabling farmers to manage pruned biomass efficiently, safely, and in a cost-effective manner.

Innovation's Highlights

This farmer-engineered machine integrates with existing farm infrastructure and ensures high efficiency in pruning management:

- Power Source: Tractor PTO-driven system
- Cutting Mechanism: 4 robust blades (10 inch each) fixed on a 2-foot diameter cutting plate
- Drive System: Cutter pulley (16 inch), PTO pulley (8 inch), using C-type belt (54 inch)
- Frame Dimensions: 6 feet (Length) × 20 inch (Width) × 20 inch (Height)
- Operational Output: Shreds up to 10 quintals per hour

Benefits/Advantages

The mechanized Ber shredder has brought about a major shift in orchard waste management:

- Labour Replacement: Replaces the effort of nearly 56 manual labourers, substantially reducing pruning costs
- Single-Operator System: Requires just one trained operator, enhancing safety and ease of use
- Resource Conversion: The shredded biomass can be effectively used as organic manure or converted into value-added compost, supporting circular economy practices in horticulture

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

Shri Sahoo's innovation demonstrates the power of grassroots engineering in addressing post-harvest challenges in perennial fruit crops. With minimal maintenance needs and high adaptability to small and medium orchard settings, this mechanized shredder offers a replicable model for dryland and tribal regions where Ber cultivation is gaining prominence. Effective use of shredded biomass as organic manure and/or value-added compost to be used for horticulture crops.

Scientific Validation required: No

Domain: Orchard waste management

14.5 Cultivating Harmony: Musical-Grade Bottle Gourds for Traditional String Instruments

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Basudeb Jana

Age: 68 Years

Education: Higher Secondary

Experience: 40 years

Contact Details: Village: Paliarah, Block: Udaynarayanpur, District: Howrah, State: West Bengal

Mobile No: 9735450818

Brief Description of Innovation:

In the heart of rural Howrah, Shri Basudeb Jana has revived and refined the traditional cultivation of Tumba Lau (bottle gourd) for use in Indian classical music. These specially grown and dried gourds serve as resonating chambers for instruments like the Tanpura and Sitar, where natural acoustic properties are indispensable. With a focus on sound clarity, shape symmetry, and shell strength, his innovation supports both cultural heritage and artisan livelihoods.

Innovation's Highlights

Each gourd is meticulously cultivated and dried to meet the acoustic and structural needs of professional instrument makers:

- Diameter: 44–48 inches
- Shell Thickness (Dried): 5 mm
- Dry Weight: 750–950 g
- Sound Quality: Offers excellent natural resonance, vital for the tonal depth of Tanpura, Sitar, and other Indian string instruments

Benefits/Advantages

Post-curing, these gourds develop a tough, resilient shell that ensures long-term storage stability under dry conditions. This makes them highly preferred among luthiers and craftsmen who demand both form and functionality.

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

Shri Jana's specialized cultivation practice not only contributes to sustaining Indian classical music traditions but also opens up alternative agri-artisanal income streams for marginal farmers. His work has strengthened the supply chain for handcrafted musical instruments, encouraging synergies between agriculture and performing arts.

Scientific Validation required: No

Domain: Agri-artisanal income source for Marginal farmers

14.6 Tradition Meets Innovation: Low-cost Fermentation Technique for Virgin Coconut Oil Extraction

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Patrick Jerimah

Age: 72 years

Education: No formal education.

Experience: 10 years'

Contact Details: Village: Tapoiming, District: Nicobar UT: Andaman & Nicobar Islands

Mobile No: 9474236082

Brief Description of Innovation:

Recognizing the nutritional and economic potential of coconuts in the Nicobar Islands, Shri Patrick Jerimah has adopted and refined a traditional fermentation method for producing Virgin Coconut Oil (VCO). This heat-free, chemical-free approach leverages natural microbial fermentation to separate coconut oil from fresh milk, preserving its nutritional and therapeutic value.

Innovation's Highlights

- Technique: Cold-process fermentation of coconut milk
- Oil Quality: Unrefined VCO with natural aroma, high antioxidant content, and moisturizing properties
- Shelf Life: Superior due to absence of chemical degradation
- Safety & Sustainability: Eco-friendly, free from synthetic additives or heat-induced deterioration
- Scalability: Ideal for low-cost, small-scale setups in rural and tribal areas

Benefits/Advantages

This innovation adds value to local coconut resources while opening new livelihood avenues for SHGs, women-led microenterprises, and eco-tourism-based marketing of health-conscious, organic products. It strengthens traditional knowledge systems and promotes sustainable entrepreneurship in remote island communities.

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

Further R&D support is needed to enhance yield efficiency, optimize shelf stability, and integrate quality standards for broader market access. The innovation holds promise for replication across other coconut-growing regions in India, particularly ideal for low-cost, small scale setups in rural & tribal areas.

Scientific Validation required:

Yes

Domain: Extraction of Oil from virgin coconut

14.7 Affordable Jute Ribbon Extractor with Intact Stick Recovery

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Krishna Pada Biswas

Age: 52 Years

Education: Higher Secondary

Experience: More than 20 years

Contact Details: Village: Ambarpur, Bongaon, District: North 24 Parganas, State: West Bengal

Mobile No: 8670321060

Brief Description of Innovation:

High-speed decorticators often compromise the integrity of jute sticks, which are essential for fencing, fuel, and artisanal use. To address this, Shri Krishna Pada Biswas developed a cost-effective jute ribbon extractor that preserves intact sticks during ribbon extraction—meeting a critical quality preference of jute farmers.

Innovation's Highlights

- Processing Speed: 40–50 jute plants/minute
- Stick Integrity: Ensures stick preservation, unlike ICAR-NINFET model (120 plants/minute) that causes stick breakage
- Cost: ₹40,000—five times cheaper than ₹2,00,000 commercial decorticator
- Usability: Suitable for smallholder farmers and FPOs, easy to operate and maintain
- Deployment: Six units procured by Jute Corporation of India (JCI), Ministry of Textiles, Government of India, and distributed to farmer groups

Benefits/Advantages

- Enables value retention from both jute ribbon and stick
- Empowers small and marginal jute growers with an affordable mechanization solution
- Demonstrated success has led to grassroots-level adoption and scaling through institutional support
- Balances processing efficiency with quality preservation, which is often lacking in existing high-speed machines

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

It has high potential for promotion through Jute council of India (JCI) schemes and custom hiring centers. It is suitable for integration into SHG- and FPO-based jute clusters and offers a model for public-private-institutional convergence, wherein design improvements can be pursued in collaboration with ICAR institutes and state departments.

Scientific Validation required: Yes

Domain: Development of indigenous cost-effective tool to extract Jute ribbon, while keeping the jute-sticks intact.

14.8 'Chiraharit'- A Botanical Bio-pesticide for Vegetable Crop

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Ganeswar Sahoo

Age: 52 Years

Education: Graduation

Experience: 25 years

Contact Details: Village: Hatakaranda, PO: Sakuntalapur, District: Jajpur, State: Odisha

Mobile No: 9827949766

Brief Description of Innovation:

Shri Ganeswar Sahoo has developed an effective, low-cost, and regenerative bio-pesticide using local resources. It leverages indigenous knowledge systems to manage pest infestations, reducing dependence on chemical pesticides and promoting eco-friendly farming.

Innovation's Highlights

- Mix 250 g jaggery in 3 litres cow urine in a plastic bucket
- Chop 1 kg each of karanja, arakha, and neem leaves into 1 cm pieces
- Add the chopped leaves to the mixture and stir well
- Cover with a polythene sheet
- Stir the mixture for 5 minutes every 2 days for 12–15 days
- On the 15th day, add 5 litres of water, strain through a cotton cloth
- Store the filtrate in an airtight plastic container (shelf life: 6 months)
- Solid residue can be reused with fresh cow urine for another round
- Dilute 300 ml of the extract in 15 litres of water for 16 decimal area
- Apply as foliar or basal spray
- Frequency:
  - Weekly during pest infestation
  - Every 15 days as preventive application

Benefits/Advantages

- Promotes natural pest resistance using plant-based biochemicals
- Fully biodegradable, leaves no chemical residue on crops
- Shelf-stable up to 6 months—suited for staggered application
- Reduces cost of pest control for small and marginal farmers
- Residue reuse ensures zero waste, circular input use

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

It fits well into regenerative and organic agriculture systems and is easily adoptable by SHGs, organic clusters, and FPOs. It can be demonstrated under the KVK-ATMA interface for on-farm validation and is suitable for input cost reduction strategies under tribal or SCSP components. It also encourages the revival of ethno-botanical knowledge in pest management.

Scientific Validation required: Yes

Domain: Development of low-cost Bio-Pesticide for vegetable crops, for propagating organic farming.

14.9 Indigenous Neem-Ash Seed Treatment for Healthier Germination

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Ashok Jena

Age: 47 Years

Education: Graduation

Experience: 20 years

Contact Details: Village: Gamundi, District: Ganjam, State: Odisha

Mobile No: 9938340571

Brief Description of Innovation:

Shri Ashok Jena has revived a low-cost, organic seed dressing technique using neem leaf powder and wood ash. This traditional method serves as an eco-friendly alternative to synthetic seed treatments, enhancing seedling vigor and resistance to soil-borne pests and diseases.

Innovation's Highlights

1. Sun-dry neem leaves, then powder them finely
2. Mix neem leaf powder and wood ash in a 1:3 ratio
3. For seed treatment, apply 100 grams of the mixture per kg of seed
4. Mix thoroughly to ensure uniform coating before sowing

1:3 ratio

Benefits/Advantages

- Prevents early seedling mortality caused by fungal and soil-borne pests
- Enriches seedbed with potassium from wood ash
- Promotes early and uniform germination and stronger seedlings
- Completely chemical-free—ideal for organic and natural farming
- Replicable by small and marginal farmers using locally available materials
- Reduces input cost and enhances sustainability of seed treatment operations

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

It is suitable for promotion in tribal, rainfed, and remote farming communities and aligns with regenerative and climate-resilient agriculture principles. It can be demonstrated under KVK training programs on natural input use, with potential inclusion under Paramparagat Krishi Vikas Yojana (PKVY) or Tribal Sub-Plan (TSP). It also encourages farmer-led innovations in crop health management.

Scientific Validation required: To some extent

Domain: Plant protection measures

14.10 Budha Mandia: A Climate-Resilient, Nutrient-Rich Finger Millet Variety

Profile of Innovator:

Name: Shri Sima Naik

Age: 45 Years

Education: 7th passed

Experience: 20 years

Contact Details: Village: Kusumi, District: Ganjam, State: Odisha

Mobile No: 9178398855

Brief Description of Innovation:

Shri Sima Naik has conserved and promoted Budha Mandia, a locally adapted finger millet variety that thrives in the drought-prone, rainfed ecosystems of Ganjam district. Its resilience, yield attributes, and nutritional value make it a key crop for food and nutrition security in tribal belts.

Innovation's Highlights

- Climate-Resilient: Performs well under low-input, rainfed conditions, ensuring stability in marginal lands
- Nutrient-Dense: Rich in calcium, iron, and dietary fiber—supports balanced diets in tribal households
- Pest & Disease Free: No visible incidence reported, minimizing dependency on plant protection chemicals
- Morphological Uniqueness:
  - High tillering capacity: Average 5 tillers per plant
  - More fingers per earhead: Average 6, ensuring higher grain yield
- Grain Quality: Produces flavorful flour, preferred for puddings and porridges

Benefits/Advantages

Shri Naik's selection and community-level promotion of Budha Mandia demonstrates the value of indigenous knowledge in preserving agrobiodiversity. It also strengthens the millet-based farming systems being revived under various national and state-led programs like the Millet Mission and Nutri-Garden Initiatives.

Scope & Potential of Innovation for Wider Reach/Out Scaling

It is ideal for tribal, hilly, and dryland farming systems, can be integrated into Nutri-Farms, mid-day meal schemes, and kitchen garden models, is suitable for Participatory Varietal Selection (PVS) under millet promotion projects, and encourages seed sovereignty and the establishment of community seed banks.

Scientific Validation required: To some extent

Domain: Development of indigenous variety of Millet

Chapter 16: Details of FPOs/FPCs participated in VKSA

The execution of VKSA-2025 witnessed proactive participation of several Farmer Producer Organizations (FPOs) and Farmer Producer Companies (FPCs), which served as critical conduits for transferring advanced agricultural knowledge and practices to grassroots levels. These organizations not only facilitated wider farmer engagement but also acted as catalysts in mobilizing communities, strengthening collective action, and ensuring last-mile delivery of scientific advisories. Their involvement—both direct and indirect—significantly enhanced the outreach and impact of the campaign. Notably, the following FPOs/FPCs were directly engaged in the implementation process, actively supporting field demonstrations, farmer mobilization, and the adoption of improved technologies.
